First Time Feeling

Dan + Shay

She was 18, all about me, grew up good on the Tennessee river and her Daddy didn't like me much, yeah that might have been part of the rush I was 21, just a son of a gun rollin' like a stone I was born to run But I never met a girl like that had me turnin' round coming right back We were crazy, crazy in love like you've never know, she said baby don't you ever let me goWe were fast car, top down, George Straight singin' bare feet, slow dance long hair swingin' Under the neon sky, just watching the world go by And we were laying by the river when the moon started drippin', finally figured out what a boy been missin' Sinkin' into those eyes, yeah wrong never felt so right We were small town, summertime sunset dreamin', man there ain't nothin' like a first time feelin' Wrapped up there in a blanket, nervous kiss, hands were shakin' Yeah we knew we were getting into, there was magic underneath that moon, driving me Crazy, more than she could ever know, and I said baby I ain't ever gonna let va goWe were fast car, top down, George Straight singin' bare feet, slow dance long hair swingin' under the neon sky, just watching the world go by And we were laying by the river when the moon started drippin', finally figured out what a boy been missin' Sinkin' into those eyes, yeah wrong never felt so right We were small town, summertime sunset dreamin', man there ain't nothin' like a first time feelin'Oh and the leaves fell down and the seasons changed, and that pretty little thing just moved away to Texas I guess a part of me did too Cause I miss her like crazy She was my baby, take me back, take me back Fast car, top down, George Straight singin' bare feet, slow dance long hair swingin' Under the neon sky, just watching the world go by And we were laying by the river when the moon started drippin', finally figured out what a boy been missin' Sinkin' into those eyes, yeah wrong never felt so right We were small town, summertime sunset dreamin', man there ain't nothin' like a first time feelin' Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941.
