

My One Safe Place

Andrew Peterson

You're my oasis
The eye of the hurricane
One look at your face is all I need to remember my name
So I run away home
Yes I run away home to you
I was an orphan
Caught in a thunderstorm
You open the door and welcome me into your arms
Oh
So I run away home
Yes I run away home to you
I believe in the love of the Father
I believe in the power of grace
I believe that He brought us together
You are my one safe place
You are a fortress
I am under siege
You're a light in the forest
I'm a lost boy out in the trees
Oh
So I run away home
Yes I run away home to you
Don't be scared, it's alright
It's a weight you are not meant to shoulder
But you bear so much light
And it's brighter each day we get older
And I know that you're broken too
But you are a sacrament
God has spoken through
He's spoken through you
I am my beloved's
My beloved is mine
And the banner that hovers over us is older than time
So I run away home
Yes I run away home
I believe in the love of the Father
I believe in the power of grace
I believe that He brought us together
You are my one safe place
My one safe place
My one safe place
End

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>