

Mother Earth

Banks

I'm the water, consuming all my kind, destined for alteration
And Momma ain't lying for her daughter
I know on mother earth I see the weather So I'm not gonna cover up the freckles on my faces
I covered all the bases Follow me to my bed
'Cause every time you fall, I'll be holdin' your head up
And when will you get tired of feeling bad?
And every time you fall, fall on me
Follow me to my bed
'Cause every time you fall, I'll be holdin' your head up
And when will you get tired of feeling bad?
And every time you fall, fall on me
He's so hollow
My baby, made him blind until he wasted fate
So I'm left behind until he curse my sorrow
But I know on mother earth I see the weather So I won't let you burden in all my safest places
I, I covered all the bases
Follow me to my bed
'Cause every time you fall, I'll be holdin' your head up
And when will you get tired of feeling bad?
And every time you fall, fall on me
Follow me to my bed
'Cause every time you fall, I'll be holdin' your head up
And when will you get tired of feeling bad?
And every time you fall, fall on me

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>