

Million Voices

BarlowGirl

Tell me who'd have thought that we would be so controversial
And stand against the normal
Are we too outspoken, loud, and messing up the comfortable?
Well, we've been messed up also But how can we be silent
When a fire burns inside us
'Cause we're a million strong and getting stronger still
They'll remember we were here
With a million voices breaking silence 'til
They'll remember we were here
We were made to start the riot, take on the impossible
And we will slay the giants
We are done with fake religion fighting now to find the movement
Won't stop till we find it But how can we be silent
When a fire burns inside us
'Cause we're a million strong and getting stronger still
They'll remember we were here
With a million voices breaking silence 'til
They'll remember we were here We're a million strong and getting stronger still
They'll remember we were here
With a million voices breaking silence 'til
They'll remember we were here
We're a million strong and getting stronger still
They'll remember we were here
With a million voices breaking silence 'til
They'll remember we were here They'll remember we were here
(You will remember, can't you remember)
(You will remember, can't you remember)
