

Snow Is Gone

Josh Ritter

Birds beneath my window
Dustying their wings upon the lawn
I hear them in the morning light
Giving last amen to a migratory song
They're never looking round for me
Their eyes are on the sky or the ground below
But I'd rather be the one who loves
Than to be loved and never even knowHello blackbird
Hello starling
Winter's over
Be my darling
A long time coming but now
The snow is gone
A long time coming but now
The snow is gone
You were beautiful when i first saw
Your feathers and confectionery airs
Like the earth it up and promised you
The stars but you really didn't care
I sang in exultation pulled the stops
You always looked a little bored
But I'm singing for the love of it
Have mercy on the man who sings to be adoredHello blackbird
Hello starling
Winter's over
Be my darling
A long time coming but now
The snow is gone
I'm underneath your window now
It's long after the birds have gone to roost
And I'm not sure if I'm singing
For the love of it or for the love of you
But I've flown a long way honey
Hear my confession then I'll go
I'd rather be the one who loves
Than to be loved and never even knowHello brown one
Hello blue one
Last night's feathers
Exchanged for new onesHello blackbird
Hello starling
Winter's over
Be my darling

A long time coming but now
The snow is gone
A long time coming but now
The snow is gone
