

Spoiled

Flor

These mounting emotions
Now that I can see the sky
I've been taking steps back
Stuck in the trap of an eye for an eye Yeah, oh, it feels like a story
In the parts where everything slows pace
I can see the details now, see them glow in the dark of the waste And I get the feeling like I won't get everything that I want
And I know that now, so what is it that's keeping me down?
And I get the feeling like I won't get everything that I want
And I know that now, so what is it that's keeping me spoiled?
Keeping me spoiled, keeping me spoiled
And I swear, I swear, I swear it
I'm trying to get it all pieced together
But it won't fit, but it won't fit
It doesn't make sense to me, no And I get the feeling like I won't get everything that I want
And I know that now, so what is it that's keeping me down?
And I get the feeling like I won't get everything that I want
And I know that now, so what is it that's keeping me spoiled?
And I swear, I swear, I swear it
I'm trying to get it all pieced together
But it won't fit, but it won't fit
No, no And I get the feeling like I won't get everything that I want
And I know that now, so what is it that's keeping me spoiled?

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>