Everyday

Jill Phillips

A night full of stars and the moon on water
Reflects perfectly clear
We walk to the car, turn on secret garden
And roll down the windows to hearDown to the shore where the tide is rising
Feel it run over our feet

We start to move and I'm realizing

Now I am living a dreamI can't believe, can't believe that we're here

But I won't complain, won't complain

'Cause I could go on for a million more years

If we danced like this every day

I open my eyes as the song is fading

I wish that it had no end

But the pulse of the tide keeps our bodies swaying

Dancing to music withinI can't believe, can't believe that we're here

But I won't complain, won't complain

'Cause I could go on for a million more years

If we danced like this every day

I can't believe, can't believe that we're here
But I won't complain, won't complain

'Cause I could go on for a million more years

If we danced like this every day'Cause I could go on for a million more years

If we danced like this every day
