

Hideaway

ELAN

There's a constant cry in the park
Baby lost his blue eyes in the dark
He'd been working all night long
Behind the desperate liesHe sleeps like a rock
And awakes with the sun
To freeze the color of the angel
That watches over his shoulderHide away, shy away
To keep you from the cool wind
It'll help you crawl through confusion
Make you break away
Make you break away
Hide away, shy away
To keep you from the cool wind
It'll help you crawl through confusion
Make you break away
Make you break awayOh and if this ain't enough
You're going to drown your head in misery
And it's all a blurry memoryOh and if this ain't enough
You're going to drown your head in cheap whiskey
And it's all a blurry memoryThere's a constant cry in the park
Baby lost his blue eyes in the dark
He'd been working all night long
Underneath the desperate lies
Hide away, shy away
To keep you from the cool wind
It'll help you crawl through confusion
Make you break away
Oh, oh, ohHide away, shy away
To keep you from the cool wind
It'll help you crawl through confusion
Make you break away
Make you break away
Oh, oh, ohHide away
Hide away
Hide away
Hide away
Hide away
