

Xeroxide

Emanuel

Brother we stick together. We fall apart
While we haunt these hollow halls
Inside her father's residence.
Empty heads fill crowded rooms,
I can hear my own spine crack.
I keep my collar up and wear a lion's mask.
I feel their stares they violate me.
Bodies pile in suffocating,
Firewalk the coals there's no turning back once you're gone.
Meet by the back door run for our social lives.
Sell your soul. Revive. I'm alive.
Now were faster than fashion when fascism's in.
And it's never out of style...
Xeroxide.

You smell like sex and cigarettes, this moment is a blur.
Everyone hold down your favorite girl.
I feel their stares they violate me.
Bodies pile in suffocating,
Firewalk the coals there's no turning back once you're gone.
Meet by the back door run for our social lives.
Sell your soul. Revive. I'm alive.
And now were faster than fashion when fascism's in.
And it's never out of style... No
Xeroxide.

Brother we stick together. We fall apart
While we haunt these hollow...
Brother we stick together. We fall apart.
Meet by the back door run for our social lives.
Sell your soul. Revive. I'm alive.
And now were faster than fashion when fascism's in.
And it's never out of style...
Xeroxide.
Xeroxide.
Xeroxide.
