

Dark Star

Tarja

Burning out
In the distance you're falling
Starting to fade
Light is condemned to be tied down
By gravity close to the end Do you still remember?
Before the weight that pulled you under
Dared you to rise Where are you now?
Are you proud of the life you've wasted?
Wearing the crown of illusion you created
You'll never know what it feels like to shine
You're the master in your own mind
But a slave to all, you are a dark star
Empty is never enough
You keep clawing for what you can't reach
Smothering space filled without any grace
And I can't breathe Nothing lasts forever
Even the stars will lose their luster
Returning to dust Where are you now?
Are you proud of the life you wasted?
Wearing the crown of illusion you created
You'll never know what it feels like to shine
You're the master in your own mind
But a slave to all, you are a dark star Dark star, dark star
Dark star, dark star
Where are you now?
Are you proud of the life you wasted?
Wearing the crown of illusion you created
You'll never know what it feels like to shine
You're the master in your own mind
But a slave to all, you are a dark star Where are you now?
Are you proud of the life you wasted?
Wearing the crown of illusion you created
You'll never know what it feels like to shine
You're the master in your own mind
But a slave to all, you are a dark star
Dark, dark, dark, dark, dark, dark
Dark, dark, dark, dark, dark, star

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>