Come Back Home

Lauv

Doubt, doubt, doubt It kills everything that you love Now, now, now I'm losing myself on the runAnd I flew to California Thought I could leave Every piece of you right here Yeah I flew to California Still wide awake Oh the sun burned it on clearHow I still love you I still love you But sometimes you have to go Trade your heart for bones To know you need to come back home Come back home Paint-chipped skies Nothing is ever as it seems Behind these codeine eyes Blind to the world in betweenAnd I flew to California Thought I could leave Every piece of you right here Yeah I flew to California Still wide awake Oh the sun burned it on clearHow I still love you I still love you But sometimes you have to go Trade your heart for bones To know you need to come back home Come back home Getaway I always thought I needed a getaway. Getaway I always thought I needed a getaway. Getaway I always thought I needed a getaway. Getaway I always thought I needed a getaway.But I still love you I still love you But sometimes you have to go Trade your heart for bones To know you need to come back home Come back homeGetaway I always thought I needed a getaway.

Getaway I always thought I needed a getaway. Getaway I always thought I needed a getaway. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/