

Sugar Coat

Little Big Town

I turn the bathroom light on
To take my make up off
Look at myself in the eye
I wonder why I wear it anyway
Another car drives by
I wonder where you are
The kids are all in bed
And everything but you is in its place
From the street view lookin' in
It's pretty as a picture
Our home sweet home
Sometimes I wish I liked drinkin'
Sometimes I wish I liked pills
Wish I could sleep with a stranger
But someone like me never will
Sometimes I hardly can't stand it
I just smile with a lump in my throat
Sometimes I wish I could bury it
And didn't have to wear this sugar coat
Passed down from my mom
She worried so well
She rested on my shoulders
Says it's cold out there, anything
Would I recognize myself
With anybody else?
If I took the damn thing off
And burned it
Sometimes I wish I liked drinkin'
Sometimes I wish I liked pills
Wish I could sleep with a stranger
But someone like me never will
Sometimes I hardly can't stand it
I just smile with a lump in my throat
Sometimes I wish I could bury it
And didn't have to wear this sugar coat
Oh, this damn sugar coat
In one of these nights I'll meet you in the driveway
And tell you to go to hell
Go to hell
Sometimes I wish I liked drinkin'
Sometimes I wish I liked pills
Wish I could sleep with a stranger
But someone like me never will
Sometimes I hardly can't stand it
I just smile with a lump in my throat

Sometimes I wish I could bury it
And didn't have to wear this sugar coat
This damn sugar coat
Oh, this sugar coat
This damn sugar coat
