

Mind Your Manners

Pearl Jam

I got an unfortunate feeling, I been beaten down
I feel that I'm done believing, now the truth is coming out
What they're taking is, more than a vow

They're taking young innocents, and then they throw 'em on a burning pile, ah ah ay ay
And all along they're saying... "Mind your manners!" I caught myself believing that I needed
God

And if it's out there somewhere we sure could use hymn now
Try my patience! My patience tried
This world's a long love letter that makes me want to cry, ah ah ay ay
All along they're saying...

"Mind your manners!"

That's all they're saying

Self-realized and metaphysically redeemed
May not live another life, may not solve our mystery
Right round the corner could be bigger than ourselves
We could will it to the sky, or we could something else
And all along they're saying... "Mind your manners!"

Always praying

Self-realized and metaphysically redeemed
May not live another life, may not solve our mystery
Right round the corner could be bigger than ourselves
We could will it to the sky, or we could something else
Go to heaven, that's swell... how you like your living in hell?

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>