

Stronger

Faith Hill

This is the window to my heart
I just want you to be free
There ain't no freedom where we are
Ain't no wishes in these stars
Ain't no reason to believe
But don't worry baby, don't you worry
Maybe this is what we need
A little bruising, a little bleeding
Some space that we can breathe in
Some silence in between
So cry for me baby and I'll cry for you
And we'll both break down and we'll both break through
We'll find our way and we'll face the truth
And we both will be stronger
And we'll lie down in our loneliness
And wake up with our sad regrets
And even though we don't know it yet
We both will be stronger
We both will be stronger I can't believe you're really gone now
But I know its for the best
And I know that we weren't right
But I still reach for you each night
And man that hurts like hell
So cry for me baby and I'll cry for you
And we'll both break down and we'll both break through
We'll find our way and we'll face the truth
And we both will be stronger
And we'll lie down in our loneliness
And wake up with our sad regrets
And even though we don't know it yet
We both will be stronger
We both will be stronger music break So baby
So cry for me baby and I'll cry for you
And we'll both break down and we'll both break though
Find out where we can face the truth
We both will be stronger
And we'll lie down in out loneliness
And wake up with our sad sad regrets
And even though we don't know it yet
We both will be stronger
We both will be stronger This is the window to my heart
I just want us to be free

Baby I'm sorry for the way things are Goodbye is always hard
And we both will be stronger...
