

The World Is A Marble Heart

AJR

The world is a marble heart too fragile, too broken left without nothing but our backs to hold on to you're out in the daylight and out of the jungle we could have been, we should have been what your heart couldn't handle Feel like I need, to forget you runaway girl, cause I let you now you found some other man, you see...
I'm better off without you, cause the man ain't me! I'm going back now to the beginning
what you denied from the start... and now you can't go breaking my heart
and now you can't go breaking my heart.
The world is a marble heart
It's bullshit and we know it like a flower sheltered in stone with no chance of regrowing like push comes to shore like I'm out on your doorstep
we could have been, we should have been with only my soul left. Feel like I need, to forget you runaway girl, cause I let you now you found some other man, you see...
I'm better off without you, cause the man ain't me! I'm going back now
to the beginning
what you denied from the start...
and now you can't go breaking my heart
and now you can't go breaking my heart.
Tell me one more time, that we are over tell me one more time, that we are through work it, work it, work it, baby don't you hurt me, hurt me, hurt me, come on now
work it, work it, work it, baby don't you
hurt me, hurt me, hurt me, come on now
tell me one more time, that we are over tell me one more time... Feel like I need, to forget you runaway girl, cause I let you
now you found some other man, you see
now you found some other man, you see I'm better off without you, cause the man ain't... and now you can't go breaking my heart I'm going back now
to the beginning

what you denied from the start...
and now you can't go breaking my heart
and now you can't go breaking my heart.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>